Analyst, Debt Advisory

- Excellent Training and Exposure to Deals
- Leading Corporate Advisory Firm
- Sydney based

Our client is a leading independent corporate advisory firm in Australia.

This established independent corporate advisory firm occupies a unique position in Australia's corporate landscape. Highly respected for providing independent advice, the firm has advised some of Australia's largest corporations and has a reputation for recruiting the best available talent.

Working closely with the Head of Debt Advisory, this position will support deal flow and transaction activity across debt structuring, debt raisings, financial restructuring, supporting M&A transactions and providing general debt related advice to its corporate clients. Responsibilities include preparing research and reports for client presentations, preparing credit papers, documentation, etc; playing a key role in transaction activities including liaising with external advisors and service providers; applying industry expertise in the creation and review of complex integrated financial models related to specific transactions and advice.

The ideal candidate will have excellent academics with 1-3 years experience within investment banking or advisory divisions of a tier one firm. You will have developed excellent research and financial modelling skills. With impressive interpersonal and communication skills, you will display initiative and a proactive approach to all aspects of your work and career.

This is an excellent opportunity where your career will be rewarded with the growth of the firm. A highly attractive, incentive based remuneration structure is on offer to the successful candidate.
